BUSINESS RESUME (2012)

Dr. Helen Fisher, PhD. is a biological anthropologist in the Department of Anthropology, Rutgers University. She has written five internationally best-selling books and many articles on the brain science of human social behavior. She is currently studying the biological basis of personality and is a pioneer in examining the neurochemistry of leadership. Using data collected from her questionnaire, the Fisher Chemistry Test, taken by 10 million people in 40 countries, as well as her knowledge of genetics, brain architecture (using fMRI) and neurochemistry, Helen discusses four broad styles of thinking and behaving associated with specific brain systems. She gives detailed data on how to recognize and influence each temperament style and how individuals of each temperament dimension are predisposed to think, work, buy, innovate, follow and lead.

Her lectures include speeches at: The World Economic Forum (Davos), the International meeting of the G20, TED, International Monetary Fund, The Aspen Institute, The United Nations, The Economist, USA Today/Gannet, Harvard Kennedy School of Government, National Press Club, The Brookings Institution, American Society of Newspaper Editors, Bank of America/Merril Lynch, Solomon-Smith Barney, Fortune Magazine, Columbia Business School, Johnson and Johnson, General Electric, GlaxoSmithKline, Deloitte, Procter & Gamble, VISA, American Express, KPMG, Blue Cross, CSX Corp, Harpo Productions, American Association for the Advancement of Science, The Salk Institute, the United States Air Force Academy, Cold Spring Harbor Biological Laboratories, The American Museum of Natural History, The Smithsonian Institution, American Psychiatric Association, and many other business, academic, museum, and town hall conferences in the United States, Canada, Europe and Asia. During 1994-95 she lectured on college campuses as a Visiting Scholar of the Phi Beta Kappa Society.

Since 1983 Dr. Fisher has served as an anthropological commentator and/or consultant for businesses and the media. Her contracts include those with Match.com, NBC's Today Show, The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, The Reader's Digest, Time-Life books, Roper Starch Worldwide, Procter and Gamble, Deloitte, Harpo Productions and VISA. She is currently Chief Scientific Advisor to Match.com and Chemistry.com, a division of Match.com.

Fisher has appeared on many US and international TV and radio shows, including ABC 20/20, The Today Show, Nightline (ABC), The Colbert Report, The View, Dateline NBC, ABC Prime Time Live, The Anderson Cooper Show (ABC), CNN News, CNN International News, NBC Nightly News, ABC World News Tonight, Good Morning America (ABC), Charlie Rose (PBS New York), The News Hour with Jim Lehrer, MS-NBC, The Early Show (CBS), the Oprah Winfrey Show, the History Channel, The Discovery Channel, the National Geographic Channel, BBC London, Channel 4 London, and CBC Canada. She has also appeared on many regional, national, and international radio talk shows. For her work in communicating anthropology to the lay public, Helen has received the American Anthropological Association's Anthropology in Media Award, and Distinguished Service Award.
